Department of Economics
College of Business
San Francisco State University

Position title: Assistant Professor position in Labor or Public Economics

Start date: August, 2018

Salary: Commensurate with qualifications and experience. The CSU provides generous health, retirement and other benefits.

Position Summary:
The position is in the department of Economics at San Francisco State University. The Department of Economics offers both a BA and an MA degree separate from the business programs. The department has 10.4 faculty members and serves approximately 250 undergraduate majors and 25 graduate students.

The position is focused on Labor or Public Economics, with specific research and teaching interest on quantitative research in labor or public economics. Candidates with a field in econometrics are strongly preferred.

The position includes a full-time faculty workload per the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the California State University and the California Faculty Association. The workload primarily includes teaching assigned undergraduate and graduate courses in economics and conducting an active, ongoing scholarship program which advances knowledge in the field of one's specialty. The teaching assignments will be courses in labor or public economics as well as introductory or intermediate microeconomics and econometrics. The scholarship may address a range of topics in the areas of labor or public economics.

Additional responsibilities include, but are not limited to, productive participation on departmental, college, and university-wide committees; mentoring and advising graduate and undergraduate students; holding regular office hours; curriculum development and improvement, particularly with regard to student learning outcomes; and remaining current in both subject area and teaching methodologies.

Essential Job Tasks:

Prepare course materials such as syllabi, lecture and discussion materials, readings and assignments, assessments, and learning resources; Prepare and deliver effective lectures to undergraduate or graduate students on introductory and intermediate economics, labor, public economics, and econometrics; Initiate, moderate, and facilitate classroom discussions;

Evaluate and grade students' class work, assignments, papers, etc. in a timely manner;
Compile, administer, and grade examinations or other learning assessments;
Maintain student grades and other required records or reporting materials; Conduct research in one's field of interest and present findings in peer-reviewed journals, books, and professional conferences; Stay current on developments in the discipline by reading new literature, talking with colleagues, and participating in professional conferences; Plan, evaluate and revise curricula, course content, course materials, and methods of instruction;
Hold regularly-scheduled office hours for the purpose of advising and assisting students;
Actively participate on assigned committees in accordance with department or College needs, and SF State's strategic vision; Actively participate in collegial interactions in fulfilling service assignments and other duties at the department, college, and university level. Additional duties as assigned.

San Francisco State University is a member of the CSU system and serves a diverse student body of 30,000 undergraduate and graduate students. The University seeks to promote appreciation of scholarship, freedom and, human diversity through excellence in instruction and intellectual accomplishment. San Francisco State University faculty are expected to be effective teachers and demonstrate professional achievement and growth through research, scholarship, and/or creative work. Our goal is to attract a world-class and diverse faculty committed to build a multicultural educational environment.

San Francisco State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer with a strong commitment to diversity. All qualified applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or other legally protected category. We strongly encourage the application of individuals from historically underrepresented groups.