Introduction

San Francisco State University, Department of Accounting offers an exciting opportunity for a tenure-track Assistant/ Associate Professor position in Accounting beginning August 2020. We seek colleagues whose teaching and research interests include taxation and business law. We are especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute to diversity and equity through their research, teaching, and/or service towards the excellence of the academic community.

The SF State Department of Accounting offers a Master of Science in Accountancy degree and a BSBA degree with a concentration in Accounting. Accounting is one of nine departments in the College of Business and has approximately 16 full-time faculty, 30 MSA students, and 800 undergraduate accounting majors. Our students represent more than 100 nationalities and reflect the rich cultural and economic diversity of the Bay Area. San Francisco State University provides a vital educational service to the many business communities in the Bay Area, such as the San Francisco Financial District and Silicon Valley.

The mission of San Francisco State University is to create and maintain an environment for learning that promotes respect for and appreciation of scholarship, freedom, human diversity, and the cultural mosaic of the City of San Francisco and the Bay Area; to promote excellence in instruction and intellectual accomplishment; and to provide broadly accessible higher education for residents of the region and state, as well as the nation and globally. To fulfill its mission, the University is committed to the following goals:

- Attracting, retaining and graduating a highly diverse student body
- Providing disciplinary and interdisciplinary liberal arts and professional education that is academically rigorous and intellectually challenging
- Providing curricula that reflect all dimensions of human diversity, and that encourage critical thinking and a commitment to social justice
- Recruiting, retaining and supporting a diverse faculty whose teaching demonstrates an active engagement with their individual fields of study and whose creative and scholarly work is an extension of the classroom, laboratory or studio
